SEYMOUR, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 6 1914.

PRICE TWO CENTS

FARMERS' CLUB TO BE ERECTED HERE

Blish Estate Will Build Handsome Structure in Memory of Captain Meedy W. Shields.

LARGE REST ROOM PROVIDED

Agriculturalists of Jackson County Entitled to Membership in Association without Expense.

Work will be started Thursday on The Farmers' Club building which will be erected on South Chestnut street just south of the city building by the Blish Estate. It will be constructed of Bedford stone, pressed brick and steel, and from the standpoint of appearance, will be one of the handsomest buildings in the city. The structure will have a frontage of forty-five feet and will extend the full length of the lot eighty-two and one-half feet.

The Farmers' Club will be erected as a memorial to Captain Meedy W. Shields, the founder of Seymour and one of the principal farmers of his day. The donors are the heirs of Captain Shields through his daughter, Sarah Shields Blish. The building and endowment which will be provided for its maintenance will represent approximately $25,000.

The idea of providing a club house for farmers and their families who visit the city is the original idea of M. S. Blish who has had the plan in mind for several years. When it is completed Seymour will have the distinction of having the only building of its kind in the middle west. Briefly stated the purpose of the Club is to provide comforts and conveniences for farmers, their wives and children who visit the city and nothing has been left undone to carry out the idea in detail. That such a Club will be popular with the farmers and their families is easy to foresee as it fulfills the need that has long been felt here. Every resident of Jackson county who gains a livelihood, wholly or in part, by agricultural pursuits is entitled to membership without any cost whatsoever. The running expenses of the building will be met by an endowment which will be provided by the Blish Estate.

The Club has been incorporated under the laws of the state of Indiana and its object as stated in the articles of incorporation is to "promote the material, moral, social and educational welfare of its members and their families."

In planning the building the idea of permanency was kept in mind and the structure will be built so substantially that it will stand for years to come. It will be fireproof throughout and much of the frame work will be made of steel. The only wood used will be in the finishings and furnishings.

In the front of the building will be a handsome stone parapet about five feet above the level of the sidewalk. This may be reached through either the north or south entrance by a series of stone steps arranged in such a manner that the general attractive appearance of the building will be augmented. Upon entering the Club one will find a large living

AVERAGE DOCKET IN CIRCUIT COURT

Present Indications Are That Business of May Term Will Not be Unusually Heavy.

CLAIM CASE ON TRIAL TODAY

Suit For $50 is Filed Against Eshom Estate—Number of Divorce Cases Filed.

In circuit court today a case filed by Alexander Darkiess against the estate of Robert Eshom, deceased, was heard by a jury. The plaintiff alleged that a claim amounting to $50 for work and labor was due him and was unpaid. The entire day was taken up in hearing the evidence and with arguments of the attorneys.

The docket was read Tuesday and the issues were completed in several cases which are now ready for trial. Arguments on demurrers were heard by Judge Swails in several suits. It is expected that the business this term will be about the average and no cases which will require several days for trial have been set.

In the divorce suit of Anna Hamilton vs. James L. Hamilton, the proceedings were dismissed by the plaintiff as were the suits filed by Samuel Jones for divorce from Martha E. Jones, and Ruby V. Baker who wished a separation from Jesse Baker.

The case of the State vs. Henry Parish for alleged grand larceny was continued until the next term of court at the request of the defendant.

Clarence Lewellyn, whose wife, Ernie Lewellyn, secured a divorce from him at the last term of court, asks that the judgment be set aside and the case reopened.

Wm. Williams, of Medora, asks for a divorce from his wife, Pearl, charging cruel and inhuman treatment and alleging that his wife is not a good housekeeper. He asks the custody of the one child, a boy two years of age.

Martha L. Owens seeks legal separation from Edgar Owens whom she married in 1901 and separated from in 1914. The defendant in this case has asked for a divorce twice before but has never obtained it. Mrs. Owens alleges cruel and inhuman treatment.

Arthur Rogers charges Helen Rogers with adultery. He wishes a divorce and the custody of the one child, aged four years.

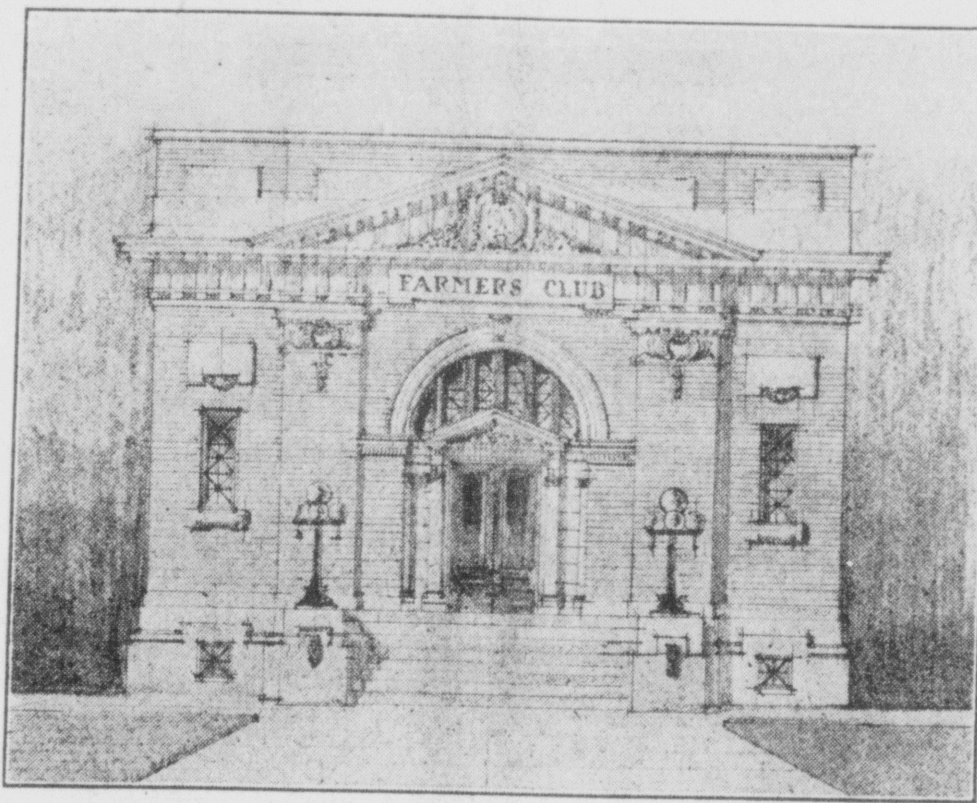

Mary R. Adams claims that her husband, Charles H. Adams, is a habitual drunkard and is cruel and inhuman, she also asks the custody of the three children, aged 10, 12 and 14 years.

Jessie Cox has filed a suit for a divorce from Clarence Cox, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Cox asks for $500 alimony and proper support for the five children, aged 14, 10, 8 and 4 years with the baby 5 months old, all of whom she wishes the custody. Cox is a conductor on one of the local railroads.

In the case of Hattie Friedman vs. the city of Bedford, the suit was continued by mutual agreement of the parties to the suit.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company dismissed its suit against Allen T. Davis, in which it sought to collect a note.

The State vs. Fred Spears case in which the defendant is charged with alleged assault and battery with intent, was set for trial May 11.

The case of G. C. Borchering vs. P. C. C. & St. L. Railroad for damages has been dismissed.

Homer R. Robins vs. the D'Heur Swain Lumber Company suit for damages has been set for May 19.

In the case of Luez E. Welsh vs. Lewis Spalding to quiet title, the court found for the plaintiff.

In the case of the State vs. Henry Helphinstine, charged with rape, trial was set for May 12. This case is the outgrowth of the notorious Guffey case in which the mother and daughter were sent to prison. They will both be returned to testify against Helphinstine.

ELECTRICAL DISPLAY ACCOMPANIED HARD RAIN

No Reports of Damage Done in Jackson by Lightning Tuesday Night Have Been Received.

Accompanied by a brilliant electrical display and sharp peals of thunder a heavy rain fell here Tuesday night about 9:30 o'clock. The clouds approached from the north and traveled in a southerly direction. A heavy wind rose with the appearance of the threatening clouds. No reports have been received here of any damage that was done by the storm.

The rain Tuesday night will cause another delay with farm work. At this time the farmers would be glad to have a couple of weeks of dry weather so that they might complete their corn planting. Some of the ground has been in readiness for the seed for several days but the soil is now too wet for planting. While the wheat fields were not especially in need of moisture the rains the last few days were not injurious to them.

Hotpoint Week Special.

During the week commencing May 11th we will sell electric irons for $2.50. Practical demonstration all week in the salesrooms of the Interstate Public Service Company. Irons may be purchased there or at the following shops: W. C. Bevins Co., Neal Electric Co.

TWENTY-SEVEN RESCUED FROM SHIP THAT BURNED AT SEA

Captain of Columbian and Thirteen Members of Crew Saved by Steamer Manhattan.

Sable Island, Nova Scotia, May 6—Captain McDonald and thirteen members of the crew of the British steamer Columbian, burned at sea, were saved by the steamer Manhattan. A wireless dispatch to this effect was received from the Manhattan by the Mareconi station here early today.

The Manhattan bound from New York for Antwerp, had been near the scene of the burning Columbian for some hours and was known to be searching for boats containing members of the Columbian's crew. Her success was announced in the following message.

"Manhattan picked up one boat of Columbian, captain and thirteen others. One engineer killed in explosion and one man drowned leaving ship. Manhattan still searching for other boat."

Yesterday the Cunard liner Franconia picked up one of the Columbian's boats containing thirteen men and the body of chief steward Matthews, so that twenty-seven in all have been rescued alive. The other missing boat, for which the Manhattan and other steamers are still searching, contains the first and second officers and seventeen men.

Camping Outfit.

The Blish boys have just set up in their home yard on North Chestnut street one of the camping outfits known as a "Kenyon take-down house," which is made of water-proof material and is collapsible in such a way as to be quickly erected or taken down and easily transported from place to place.

The boys expect to become familiar "in operating" the house by the time school closes and then expect to go on many camping expeditions, but are looking forward with especial pleasure to the coming winter when they hope to take a month's sojourn in their outfit on the shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

The "Kenyon take-down house" can be seen and inspected at the Blish residence by any one who might be interested in a camping outfit of this kind.

"ACROSS THE BORDER", THE CRY

DEMOCRATIC VOTE WAS LARGE

Evidence of Cooperation in "Clean Up and Paint Up" Campaign Seen in All Parts of City.

Heavy Voting Due to Bitter Race for Treasurer—Republicans Run Strong Second.

The "clean up and paint up" spirit is abroad in Seymour. Evidence of the campaign which is waged this week is seen in every nook and corner of this city. Dilapidated fences are being repaired, sheds repainted and trash and rubbish collected together so that it can be removed by the city haulers. Street Commissioner Brown who has charge of the removal of the trash is keeping in close touch with the work of clean up week and says that there is greater activity along this line than he has ever witnessed. Fearing that the demands for the wagons would be too great Saturday he has started several of the teamsters at work hoping to have the task completed by Saturday.

While efforts to clean up back lots and alleys are being exerted in all parts of the city great activity is seen in the southwest part of the city. Debris and trash that have been accumulating for months have been collected and many lots there been placed in first class condition. The teams were put to work in that section of the city today to haul away part of the rubbish.

On Saturday the city teams will collect the trash from all parts of the city. Residents are urged to have the rubbish in the alleys by Friday night so there will be no delay in completing the campaign.

Superintendent T. A. Mott, of the public schools, has received from the various buildings the reports on the clean up and paint up cards which were distributed to the pupils. The results were highly satisfactory and the number of cards returned was much greater than anticipated. The committee in charge of the campaign offered a potted plant to each pupil for each five cards signed.

A total of 2,061 cards were returned from all the schools. 267 pupils returned a sufficient number of cards to entitle them to the prize offered and some will receive more than one plant. A total of 387 plants will be distributed among the children of the public schools. The parochial school children also distributed cards but the returns from these have not been filed with the committee.

At the Shields building 480 cards were signed and 64 pupils were awarded prizes.

156 cards were signed and returned by pupils of the Third Ward School. Fifty-nine will be given plants.

At the Park school 442 signed cards were returned by the pupils, and forty-nine returned five or more.

The Laurel School returned the largest number of cards, 669 having been signed through the efforts of the pupils there. Ninety-one will be given plants.

Fourteen cards were returned by Lynn Street school pupils and one was awarded a prize.

Indianapolis, May 6.—Because of the close race among several of the candidates the official count will be required to definitely determine all the results of the primary in Marion county yesterday.

Edward T. Lyons, for county treasurer, ran a runaway race, leaving his sharpest competitor, James Kervan, far in the rear. Joseph H. Schuab ran third and Albert B. Hall ran fourth in this race.

Richard M. Coleman was nominated for county clerk over Charles Grossart. Joseph P. Turk was renominated for county recorder.

Theodore Portitus was renominated for sheriff, and early returns indicated that he had received more votes than his two competitors, James D. Moriarity and Warren E. Tinkle, combined.

Dr. C. O. Durham won out for renomination for coroner, recording about one-half of the total number of votes cast.

Early returns indicated that Salem D. Clark won out in the race for state senator.

Charles Remster was renominated for judge of the circuit court; Joseph T. Markey for judge of the criminal court; Charles J. Orbison for judge of superior court Room 1; Joseph Collier for judge of superior court Room 2; Frank B. Ross for judge of the probate court and indications were that Newton M. Taylor had been renominated for judge of the juvenile court. The contest for judge of superior court Room 4 appeared to be close between Clarence E. Weir and Ralph McCarty, and early returns also indicated a close contest between Pliny W. Bartholomew and Woodburn Masson for judge of superior court Room 5. Reginald H. Sullivan was nominated for prosecutor without opposition.

Paul Julian was renominated for surveyor. He had no opposition.

Charles Maguire appeared to be renominated for county commissioner, Second district. George Hardin had no opposition for county commissioner, Third district.

The following Republican candidates were nominated without opposition: Lewis B. Ewbank, judge of the circuit court; William W. Thornton, judge of superior court, Room 1; Linn D. Hay, judge of superior court, Room 2; Vincent G. Clifford, judge of superior court, Room 4; Theophilus J. Moll, judge of superior court, Room 5; Mahlon E. Bash, judge of the probate court; Franklin J. Lahr, judge of the juvenile court; Alvah J.

WOMEN WILL HELP FOR CLEANER CITY

Women's Clubs In Many Cities Have Taken Charge of Clean-Up Campaigns.

IMPORTANT FACTOR IN WORK

Active Co-operation Given By Women of Seymour Means Success of Campaign Here.

THE "Parlor" variety of civic worker is rapidly becoming obsolete in the ranks of hundreds of women's clubs throughout the land, where the members have taken up the practical altruistic work of the "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign.

Mrs. E. T. Senseney, prominent in ultra-society circles in St. Louis, is chairman of the Women's Committee of the National "Clean Up and Paint Up" Campaign Bureau, St. Louis, and is helping women's clubs everywhere to accomplish in their own towns what she accomplished in St. Louis last year. The women's clubs are conducting the entire campaign in St. Louis, Boston and other smaller cities this year, and in every city they are aiding the men effectively.

Mrs. Clarence Baxter, Kirksville, Mo., chairman of the Civic and Health Department of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, writes in a circular letter: "At a recent meeting of the Federation it was suggested that the first week of May in each year be known as 'Clean Up and Paint Up' week, and thus utilize and encourage a Missouri idea that has become a national movement, with its 'Clean Up and Paint Up' campaigns going on in more than a thousand cities. It is the desire of the Civic Department of the Federation of Women's Clubs that the movement be made general.

"Many people spend hundreds of dollars on the furnishings of their houses, and only an occasional caller gets to admire them. A much smaller amount spent in a coat of paint for the exterior, for a general cleaning of the grounds and a few flowers, would give pleasure to these callers, as well as to thousands of passersby."

Yes, here is a mighty good opportunity for the women to get busy and do something for the community which they are fitted to do better than the men, and which is more important than a thousand and one things over the accomplishment of which the men swell out their chests with evident pride. The women know all about "cleaning house." Where they have had a chance at "cleaning city" they have shown excellent results. Let's "Clean Up and Paint Up."

Mrs. E. R. Hewitt, President of the Woman's Municipal League of New York City, says:

The women who don't meet their own little responsibilities are often the very ones who are on the lookout for bigger ones.

It's a bore to see that our own ash cans are of the right size, and it's so much more interesting to bustle about and make the public conscious of its responsibility about something.

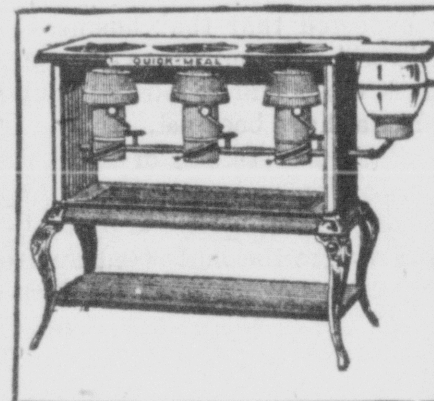

We women of the better class are the worst offenders, because we know what we ought to do, and we don't do it. Somehow we feel outside of the law. The poor are made to feel its restrictions much more sharply.

Cleanliness is an instinct with women that has survived in spite of the fact that we are all fundamentally lazy and many are untidy. It has survived. I think, because it makes for health. I don't blame the men for being untidy, because it isn't their fault. We haven't brought them up properly, and nature didn't make them so to begin with. We haven't been stern enough with them. For one thing, we don't make them ashamed to look us in the eye when they come into the house just after throwing a cigar away in the street before entering. We don't object to their lazy ways so long as they don't bring the stumps in with them. There you have the root of the whole matter—we don't, any of us, feel our own responsibility in the little things that go to make our streets dirty, our city a bad example of municipal sanitation.

You can't legislate virtue and cleanliness into people, but just now we are mad on the subject of making laws and quite indifferent to enforcing them. We are not law abiding citizens; we are chronic breakers of the law. We adore the order that we find in European cities and wonder why we can't have it here. That order is

Be careful of conflagrations in the enthusiasm of the cleanup period.

In many towns last year ash piles were dug into the ground and covered with clean earth, cans and rubbish were piled in the alleys, while old leaves, papers and brush were burned on the vacant lots.

On many occasions these cleanup fires assumed large proportions and threatened adjoining property, requiring the calling out of the fire department.

COMMISSIONERS ORDER A ROCK PILE AT NORTH VERNON

Local Police Hopeful that Jackson County Commissioners Take Favorable Action on Petition.

The local police are still hopeful that a rock pile will be established either in Seymour or Brownstown as they believe it is about the only solution to the tramp and vagrancy problem. The commissioners in Jennings county upon petition have ordered that a rock pile be established at North Vernon. The stone pile was ordered there as most of the arrests were made at that place. Only a few tramps visit Vernon and the residents at the county seat are troubled but little with them.

No action has been taken by the county commissioners relative to a rock pile here. The petition of the Seymour citizens was refused although no one questions but that such a move would be a benefit to the county. It was proposed that the stone pile be located at the county jail where the sheriff could give it his personal supervision, and while there was no objection to this plan no steps have ever been taken towards establishing it.

Seymour is the only city in the county that feels the urgent need of a stone pile where tramps and other prisoners may be worked. Brownstown is not bothered with vagrants to any considerable extent and none of the other towns in the county make many complaints of thefts which are laid to "strolling strangers." Because of its location on three railroads, however, the tramps come to Seymour so they will have better opportunity to leave after they have "worked" the city.

The Value of Boy Scouting.

All parents and friends of the Boy Scouts and Pathfinders are earnestly requested to hear Rev. R. W. Merri-field, of Jeffersonville, speak on this subject at the high school gymnasium
Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
Mr. Merrifield was formerly a Scout Master and is heartily interested in Boy Scout work. He is now connected with the department of research in sociology at the Jeffersonville reformatory. His address will be well worth hearing and it is hoped there may be a large attendance of parents and friends interested in boys work.
There will be no charge of any kind for the lecture. The regular meeting of the boys will be held following the address.

WAY TO MEXICO JOURNEY ALONG

A Climb of 263 Miles Up the Mountains From Vera Cruz.

IF a march has to be made from Vera Cruz to Mexico City the plan is to start with not less than 45,000 men. If the standing army cannot supply all these it will be necessary to use the militia. New York.
New England and Pennsylvania will be the first states called upon.

It is estimated by the war college that three months would be required to mobilize 45,000 men at Vera Cruz and give them the kind of sendoff that would guarantee their ultimate arrival in Mexico City. Army tacticians want to avoid sending an insufficient force toward the capital, to be the targets of guerrilla warfare.

Spectacular Journey.

The road from Vera Cruz to Mexico
City, 263 miles long, which will stretch before the American forces on their inland march, is beset at many points with danger spots amid grand and imposing mountain scenery. From Vera Cruz, which lies four feet above sea level, it rises to dizzy heights of more than a mile and a half above the towers of the seaport. The railroad is rich in tunnels and short, sharp turns amid the mountains and crawls reverberatingly over narrow and dangerous bridges spanning chasms and gorges.

Just beyond Vera Cruz, where sand dunes alternate with marsh lands and wild fowl rend the air with weird cries and shriekings, lies the Laguna de Cocos (cocoanut lagoon), where the Mexican army that defended Vera Cruz in the former Mexican war surrendered to General Scott. Across the jungle tops range high blue hills and the Pico de Orizaba against the northern sky. A little farther on the American troops will pass Soledad, where the peace treaty between the Spanish General Prim and the Mexican General Doblado was concluded in 1862.
Here they will cross a bridge of 400 feet over the Rio Jamapa, on the right
a deep gorge and the remains of an old Spanish causeway. The country is broken with hills and valleys. At Cameron, sixty-three kilometers from Vera Cruz, a white monument and stone slab at the left of the railroad tracks commemorates the French soldiers slain and buried there in the war of intervention. The road ascends through narrow valleys and defiles.

Ascent Grows Steeper.

A few miles beyond Paso del Macho,
seventy-six kilometers from Vera Cruz, 1,500 feet high, the railroad crosses the San Alejo bridge of 318 feet. At Chi-quihite siding is another bridge, 226 feet long, and a little farther on a third bridge spanning the Atoyac river, a roaring, leaping torrent in the wet seasons. The ascent becomes steeper and steeper, the railroad following a grade of 4 per cent that makes the engines snort and wheeze amid the hills. The elevation ascends from 1,510 feet to 2,710 feet within twenty miles.

At 106 kilometers from Vera Cruz the line passes through Cordoba, a town of 7,000 population, founded in 1618 by order of the Spanish viceroy, Don Diego Fernandez de Cordoba. It lies 2,713 feet above the sea on the slope of a little hill called Kitango, in the fertile valley of the Rio Seco, 168 miles from the City of Mexico. It is one of the most important towns in the state of Vera Cruz.

A Dangerous Spot.

Hard by Cordoba is a little fortress.
Here, amid weirdly grand scenery, the railroad passes one of the most fearsome points on the line, slowly and cautiously gliding down one steel side of the deep Metlac Barranca. On the other side a yawning ravine, in the depths of which a tropical river churns its way, is another line of rails on a terrace cut from the side of the precipice and at an angle similar to that of a toboggan slide. Five tunnels interrupt this line before it reaches the higher level and turns the flank of the hill. The train glides slowly across the Metlac bridge, a skillful piece of engineering work 350 feet long, built on a curve of 325 feet radius on a 3 per cent grade, ninety-two feet above the river. Eight cast and wrought iron pillars uphold it. Trainmen say the pass is the most dangerous on the line.

After leaving Metlac bridge the train passes through tunnels so numerous that often the locomotive will be in one and the last car of the train in another. From the last of these the train emerges on a wide tableland.

After leaving Orizaba the railroad enters a gloomy barranca called El In-fiernillo (the Little Hell) and crosses dizzy acclivities, passing through tunnels and over streams that have worn deep chasms into the traprock. Black crosses hard by mark the last resting places of unfortunates who have fallen there and warn wanderers of a similar fate if they slip from the winding track above. The landscape is beautiful with waterfalls and cascades.

From Maltrata, 152 kilometers from Vera Cruz and 5,544 feet above the sea, the railroad can be seen in retrospect doubling and twisting and loop-ing its way downward among the valleys, often as many as six lines of rails being discernable, with many aerial spider-like bridges that seem to dip like steel flumes. At Alta Luz, fourteen kilometers farther on, the railroad cuts at a 5 per cent grade through rock gorges with ferns hanging thickly over head and giant cacti clinging to the mountain wall.

Here on rainy days the train often passes through low lying clouds. A little farther on it approaches Winner's bridge, ninety feet long, one of the most dangerous on the line, spanning a yawning chasm that gives a view of surpassing grandeur of a valley many colored and rich with vegetation, 3,000 feet below. In the valley lie houses that here seem like match-boxes and cows grazing that seem no bigger than dogs. The ride is a giddy one along perpendicular cliffs and majestic natural amphitheaters spanned by daring bridges.

Over a Level Plateau.

At Boca del Monte the railroad has attained an altitude of one and one-half miles above Vera Cruz and the fortress of San Juan de Ulua. The next station is Esperanza. Then comes San Andres, 203 kilometers from Vera Cruz, from which point the run to the Mexican capital is across the central plateau, which is practically level thereafter. Forty kilometers farther on the road touches San Marcos, where is a junction with the Inter-oceanic railway and where the natives of old tested the prowess of the Spanish invaders in a fierce battle.

At Irolo, 347 kilometers from the starting point, the road meets a branch of the Hidalgo and Nordese railroad. Twenty-two kilometers farther it reaches Otumba, on the plain near which was fought one of the fiercest battles between the Indians and the Spanish invaders after Cortez and his men had been expelled from the Aztec city and were retreating to Vera Cruz to recuperate.

At San Juan Teotihuacan, ten kilometers farther on, ancient pyramids
can be seen on the right of the road,
and at San Cristobal, twenty kilometers beyond, the railroad passes several hills like ancient ramparts, with the spires of Guadalupe on the right. This town, 420 kilometers from Vera Cruz and the sea, by its squat and dreary looking houses and neglected churches used as storerooms, advertises the suburbs of the Mexican capital, and soon after reaching it the train draws up in Mexico City at the Buena Vista station.

FARMERS' CLUB TO BE ERECTED HERE

room 25x35 feet. This apartment will be furnished with comfortable chairs, writing tables and reading tables well supplied with the current numbers of magazines and newspapers. One feature of this room will be a tablet placed above the large fire place. On this tablet will be inscribed the words, "The Farmers' Club," the letters being arranged in a semi-circle. Immediately below the name will follow "A memorial to Captain Meedy W. Shields, founder of Seymour and a leading farmer of his day." A bronze bust of Captain Shields will be placed immediately above his name on the tablet.

In each corner at the front of the building will be arranged two nurseries, both of which will be especially equipped for children and infants. In each room will be found a baby crib, a baby jumper, reclining couch and a large easy chair. The sible, with toilets, basins and all other conveniences. The floor of the entire building will be made of marble and tile. The front will be classic in design and the building will be a decided improvement to the street where it is to be located.

In constructing the building considerable Bedford stone, much of it carved, will be used. Two large pillars of pressed brick will be placed on either side of the main entrance and will be capped with stone. Stone portals will be placed just outside the doorway. The windows in the front part of the building will be art glass and those on the sides will be surrounded by steel frames. John Bacon Hutchings, of Louisville, the architect, has given particular attention to the general appearance of the building and the above cut shows that he has succeeded in planning a structure of symmetry and beauty.

The idea of planning a club building for the especial convenience of farmers and their families while vis-to form and maintain a club or society of farmers and those directly interested in agriculture, and thereby to promote the material, moral, social and educational welfare of its members and their families; and to acquire and maintain for such purposes a building and premises in the City of Seymour, Indiana.

"The Trustees hereinafter named and their successors, ex officio, and all legal voters of Jackson county, Indiana, engaged in farming who derive their support in whole or in part directly from a farm, shall be eligible to membership, without pecuniary charge, but subject to such other regulations as may be prescribed in the by laws.

ARTICLE III.

"This association is not for pecuniary profit, and it shall have no capital stock. Its property shall consist of voluntary grants, gifts, donations and contributions, which shall be held and used exclusively for the purposes above stated.

ARTICLE IV.

"The name and title by which this corporation shall be known is 'The Farmers' Club.

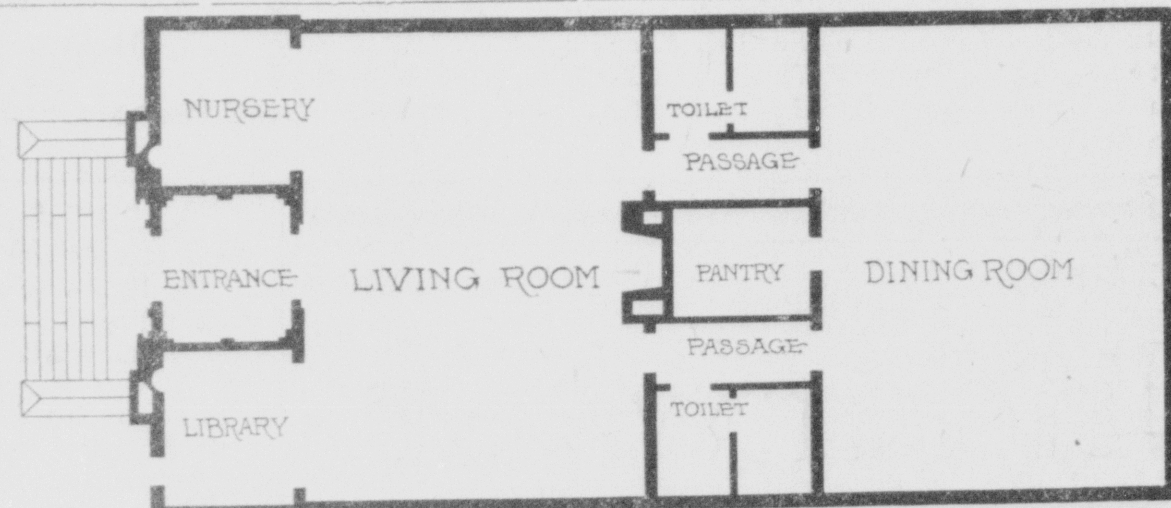

ARTICLE V.

"A Board of three Trustees shall manage the business and prudential affairs of this association and shall have charge and control of its real estate and all endowment and invested funds; said Board shall be composed of the presidents or heads of the three leading banks and financial institutions of the City of Seymour, Indiana, at the time of their selection; in case the president or head of any such bank should be unwilling or unable to serve then some other officer of such bank shall be chosen in his stead; and their terms of office shall run and continue severally as long as they remain such president or head of other officer of the bank. In case of a vacancy in said board, the remaining members shall at once fill the same by choosing a successor from the class above named.

only entrance to these rooms will be through the living room so that children left there would not likely wander away without being seen by some of the visitors. As these rooms will be visited by many children the windows have been built high for their protection. Mothers who bring their children to the city may leave them in the nurseries in the care of a matron who will be found at the Club at all hours of the day.

While no meals will be prepared or served at the Club, a commodious, well lighted dining room has been arranged where the members may partake of basket dinners which they bring with them. When the visitors reach the city they may take their baskets to the Farmers' Club and place them in the convenient pantry just off the dining room. In this pantry will be found a large refrigerator for use in summer time and also a small heater. A kitchen sink with both hot and cold water will be installed where dishes may be washed before they are replaced in the baskets.

In planning the building an effort has been made to make it as much like a modern, convenient home as possible, with toilets, basins and all other conveniences. In no other city in the middle west has an attempt in this direction been made. The Farmers' Club means that no other city in Indiana will prove as attractive to farmers as Seymour. The Club will of course be a meeting place for friends who visit the city on the same day. Here the families of farmers can make themselves comfortable after they have completed their shopping and are waiting for the hour to return home. All of the advantages will be afforded without a penny of expense to them.

The articles of incorporation provide that the association is not organized for pecuniary profit and has no capital stock. The management of the Farmers' Club will be placed in the hands of a board of trustees composed of the presidents of the leading three banks in Seymour. In this manner a permanent board is provided for the presidents or their successors by virtue of their positions become members of the board.

The articles of incorporation setting forth the purposes of the Club are as follows:

ARTICLE I.

"The object of this association is of the principal three banks and financial institutions of said City of Seymour, preference being given to the cashier of the bank having the largest surplus fund and undivided profits over and above its capital stock at the last preceding official report; and such treasurer shall have charge of the income and current funds of the association and shall pay the same out only as ordered by the trustees; and he shall receive for his services such compensation as the Board of Trustees may determine, not exceeding $24 per year.

ARTICLE VII.

"The Board of Trustees shall have power to employ such assistance as may be necessary to manage and care for the property of the association and to carry out the purposes of its organization."

The articles of incorporation are signed by C. D. Billings, H. C. Johnson, J. H. Matlock, Meedy S. Blish, Tipton S. Blish, L. B. Marsh, J. B. Thompson, E. H. Vehlslage, August Vondielingen, Fred. E. Miller and Carl J. Richart.

Although tweed and like wool fabrics are used a great deal for the separate coat, several of the new heavy cottons are also favored; railline, golfine and cotton velvet are among these. These cotton fabrics come in all the new shades and are especially effective in the brighter yellows and scarlets. The coat shown in No. 8126 is developed in yellow cotton railline; the back extends over the shoulders to form a shaped yoke; there is an inset cuff and a turn-over collar which may be worn standing. To make this coat in size 36, requires 3 3/4 yards of 42 inch material. All of these cottons average 42 inches in width and range in price from $2.50 a yard and up.

The street dress illustrated in No. 8058, displays unusually trim lines and may be made up effectively in either one of the popular checks or stripes. Here it is developed in plaid, showing two shades of gray; collar, cuffs and the lower part of the vest are of black satin, and the upper part of the vest is of fine white voile with a line of tiny glass buttons extending down the front. This fine voile is much used for vests and collars at the moment and is dainty and becoming.

Five and one-quarter yards of 42 inch material is needed to make up this design in size 36.

CHAPTER X.

Katherine was just as much amazed at meeting Hayes as he was at finding her at the door.

"I didn't know you would be here," Katherine apologized, "otherwise I—"

Bob's expression silenced her. She had never seen such an expression in his eyes before. Katherine was radiantly beautiful today. She knew it. More than that, she had taken particular care to gown herself in an exquisite afternoon dress of dull blue, a gown that had been draped according to her own fastidious design. But in Bob's eyes there was no response to her beauty or her clothes or her poise. He didn't even attempt to disguise his disgust at her effrontery in invading Mrs. Slade's retreat.

"I want to see Mrs. Slade," Katherine finally announced.

"Upon my word!" his voice was low, but hoarse. "I never heard of such a thing as your coming to this house. What do you want here? Want to tell that little woman you're after her? What do you want here?"

"Will you kindly tell Mrs. Slade that I am here?" Katherine's eyes were hard and her mouth a thin strip of determination.

"First, I want to know what you're going to say to her," Hayes demanded.

"Whether I say it today or tomorrow doesn't matter," Katherine answered, quietly. "I'll say it. So you might as well let her know I'm here—and go."

"All right, but do you think you had better risk it? You look out! When she discovers—" Mary's entrance at this moment checked Hayes' warning. She looked questioning, first at Katherine, then at Hayes.

"I'll be back, auntie, in a very few minutes," Hayes remarked. "I've got to work on my car. This is Miss Strickland," and he shut the door.

"Oh—Miss Strickland," repeated Mary, very much pleased, but very much in awe of the senator's daughter. "You called on me once before, but I had a headache. I've often wished since I hadn't had it. Won't you take off your things and sit down. It's very kind of you to call."

Katherine thanked her and sat down. She had not expected to find such a sweet little woman in Mrs. Slade. The woman was so little, so fragile, so harmless and helpless in appearance. Even the old-fashioned cottage made its appeal to the girl's sensitive spirit; the shabby furniture gave her a vision of what Slade's earlier life with this woman must have been. Instead of her usual poise, she found herself quite a little at a loss to know what to do or say before the frank, sincere gaze of Slade's wife. The questions she had meant to blurt out soon after her arrival remained mutely on her lips. Instead she found herself answering the questions that Mary Slade was asking.

She found herself telling the woman of her own struggles against increasing poverty, talking of her own hopes and ambitions.

"Mrs. Slade, I don't say this is a social call," Katherine found herself as frank as the woman at the other side of the table.

"You—you know all about my trouble, Miss Strickland?"

"Yes, that's what I'd like to talk to you about, without offending you, if I might. You see, this trouble comes very near to us—"

"How does it come near to you, my dear?" Mary interrupted.

"Mrs. Slade," Katherine set herself bravely to what she knew would be a bitter task. "My father is virtually a beggar. You know how we live! People think we're rich. Well—we're poor! We're getting poorer every day. Every penny is tied up in—politics. My father was the first to see Mr. Slade's strength. He is now living on Mr. Slade's future."

Mary nodded.

"Mr. Slade is a very important man," Katherine went on, "but no matter how much people admire him he can easily be ruined by a scandal."

"I haven't any desire to ruin my husband," Mary protested, quickly.

"No, I'm sure you haven't," Katherine was more at ease as the conversation progressed. "But you being here and he being a few miles away, of course, there's no excuse to be offered, is there? It is a scandal. Politically and socially he's ruined unless he comes back here, or you—" Katherine paused, for the simple reason that she didn't have the heart to finish.

"Or I go away," Mary completed the sentence. "Yes, and if I go away—I know what that means. No, I'm not going away. Miss Strickland, you tell your father and his friends, from me—"

"Oh, no—please," Katherine objected. "I came quite alone, unknown to him."

"Well, you might as well tell him or anyone else that wants to know—"

"Oh, no, I couldn't, Mrs. Slade. I couldn't carry any messages. I came here to find out—" Katherine checked herself. The situation was suddenly becoming embarrassing.

"Well, now, you know," Mary answered, "there won't be any divorce."

"I see—yes—" and she took up her gloves, preparatory to going.

"I'm very sorry," Mary explained, "that others should suffer through this, but that's how it stands. For once in his life Dan Slade is not going to have his own way." She smiled. "Now, let's talk of something else. I hear you draw pictures of your dresses—designs. Is that one of your own gowns?"

"Oh, yes," Katherine replied, amiably. "I often do little sketches for the fashion magazines, and I do busts. My friends think it's a fad, when as a matter of fact, it's for money, for clothes and things."

"I had no idea," Mary was all sympathy and understanding. "You're so young and need pretty things. That's one of the joys I've missed—dressing a daughter! You know," she began, suddenly, "I've heard a great deal of you, and you're not at all the young lady I supposed you were. You're just as simple and sweet and natural as you can be. And your affection for your father!"

Mary got up and, selecting the loveliest rose from the cluster in the vase, carefully wiped the stem and handed it to Katherine.

"Won't you stay for a bit of dinner? Better have just a bite."

"I must go," returned Katherine absently. Somehow or other she hadn't quite expected this sort of a visit.

"I hope I haven't said anything to trouble you," she hastened to add. "What I said about this ruining Mr. Slade is just an echo of what his friends say."

"My dear child, you haven't hurt my feelings. Perhaps you know something I don't know?" she asked, suddenly. "Do sit down again. Stay just a minute. I'd like to talk some more. You're out in the world and I'm quite alone. People aren't as frank with me as they might be. Suppose I'm your mother—just let me say it—and my husband wanted a divorce—he's old enough to be your father—we'd all get together to find out why, wouldn't we?"

"I suppose we would," and Katherine took the chair Mrs. Slade had indicated.

"What I want to know is why people think Mr. Slade wants a divorce? Why, isn't a separation bad enough?"

"I don't know that I—" For the life of her she could think of no answer to this directly simple line of questioning. "Well, there's only one reason I ever knew of," Mary continued, "when a man's so insistent. I guess you know the kind of reason I mean—a well—a younger reason."

"You mean—a woman?" Katherine's voice was cold and firm.

"Yes, I do. It doesn't seem to surprise you," Mary declared suddenly noticing that Katherine had known at once just what she had in mind. "Miss Strickland, I think you know something more than you're telling me and you hate to say it. What would you do in my place?" she asked as Katherine's silence gave virtual assent.

"I?" Katherine asked vacantly. She thought a moment. Then quickly, earnestly: "I'll tell you what I'd do. I'd do what they all do. I'd save what's left of the affection I once had. It's no use standing over a man with the end of a chain in your hand; that doesn't get him back. I'd take his money, the luxury—I'd simply—well, I'd dissolve partnership and I'd go. I'd go to some place where life interested me and get what I could out of it. I'd live as I never had lived, and I'd make him pay."

"That's a new idea to me," Mary was listening intently. "I never thought of such a thing."

"And supposing, Mrs. Slade, that another woman did appear. I don't say there is one, but—"

"But is there?" Mary persisted.

"I didn't say so. But I do know this: If we do love anyone, and they really love us, they never get over it and we never get over it, either, for there's always something in our hearts that we can't—we can't forget. And take a man who's not young, like Mr. Slade, why, no other woman could be anything at all to him—I mean anything more than something to keep up his position."

"I see," replied Mary, thoughtfully. "Someone to sit in his box at the opera—someone to go about and do him credit. Miss Strickland," she paused a moment and looked at Katherine earnestly, "there is such a woman, and you know it. I believe, Miss Strickland, I believe the Lord sent you straight here to me."

CONFERENCE WILL BE CALLED MAY 18

South American Mediators Give Notice That Representatives Will Meet at Niagara Falls, Ont.

PLANS OF WAR DEPARTMENT

Peace Envoys Make it Known That They Will Consider Whole Range of Mexican Affairs.

Washington, May 6.—Secretary Bryan announced late yesterday that the three South American mediators in the Mexican difficulty would meet at Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, May 18, to receive representatives of the parties to the controversy.

Mr. Bryan said:

"The mediators have notified the different parties that Niagara Falls, Canada, has been selected as the place where the mediators will confer with representatives of the different parties interested in the mediation, and that the 18th of May has been fixed as the date when the conference will begin."

The South American mediators continued their sessions throughout the day, and for the first time it became authoritatively known from them that they considered the whole range of Mexican affairs as properly embraced in their work. Their reply to Carranza had made this clear, and while eliminating him from the mediation for the time being, it still left the door open to him to come into the proceedings later.

At the War Department it became clear that the status quo at Vera Cruz would be maintained, with no advance of the American forces unless to repel attack. But it was known that a definite course of action had been outlined in the event of a resumption of hostilities at Vera Cruz and the extension of the campaign toward the City of Mexico.

In that event Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood will be in supreme command, with Gen. Funston directing the advance beyond Vera Cruz and Gen. Charles J. Bailey of the coast artillery assuming command of the base at Vera Cruz. This arrangement, however, is wholly in the line of preparedness and signifies no present purpose of being put into operation.

Congress, after a considerable period of silence on Mexico, again came into the situation. In the Senate, Senator Lippitt, of Rhode Island, introduced a resolution calling on President Wilson for information as to published reports that it was the administration purpose to aid Gen. Villa to secure the presidency. During a brief but spirited discussion, Senator Lodge read from a London paper a scathing denunciation of Villa.

President Wilson, and his Cabinet held the regular Tuesday meeting, but it was announced afterward that only routine business had been considered. Secretary Bryan remained after the Cabinet meeting, however, and it was understood he went over with the President the entire status of the mediation negotiations, and particularly the names of the American delegates.

The sessions of the mediators continued throughout the day with the three Huerta delegates now named and understood to be on the way; the United States delegates not yet designated; and Carranza definitely eliminated from mediation so long as he persists in his present attitude.

The text of the note from the mediators to Gen. Carranza, made public during the day, stated definitely for the first time that "all the difficulties which contributed toward the present situation in Mexico bear either directly or indirectly on the solution of the pending conflict between Mexico and the United States." The mediators, therefore, announced that all these difficulties "should be made the subject of consideration in the negotiations." They also informed Carranza that they considered a suspension of hostilities as indispensable to his participation in mediation.

The text of the note from the mediating envoys sent to Gen. Carranza, withdrawing the invitation for a Constitutional representative to come to Washington to participate in the mediation, was as follows:

"We have received your telegram, in which you are kind enough to tell us that you deem it inconvenient for the Constitutional cause to suspend hostilities against Gen. Huerta on the ground that such suspension would only accrue to the benefit of Huerta, and in which you declare that the international conflict between Mexico and the United States, for whose solution you accepted our good offices, is independent of the internal strife in that country.

"We consider this unexpected statement as inconsistent with the idea which caused us to offer our good offices. We think, indeed, that all the difficulties which have contributed toward the present situation in Mexico bear either directly or indirectly on the solution of the pending conflict between Mexico and the United States. Consequently, we think that these difficulties should be made the subject of consideration in the negotiations for whose successful conduct we have deemed it indispensable to suspend hostilities.

"Should you not deem it so, we would be compelled in that case to withdraw as inopportune our invitation for the appointment of representatives of the Constitutionalists in such negotiations.

"We beg to assure you of our highest consideration."

The mediators are proceeding with their general plans by which they hope to bring about a peaceful solution of the differences between Mexico and the United States. They consider as essential that there be an avoidance of hostile acts, and so long as there is no resumption of hostilities, they will continue to feel that their efforts are tending in the direction of a peaceful settlement.

During the day the State Department announced that Dr. Ryan, American threatened with death as a spy, was in the custody of the foreign minister at the City of Mexico, but at 6 o'clock Thursday night would be started for Vera Cruz on a refugee train which has been delayed because of lack of rolling stock.

The question of the disposition to be made of the receipts from customs at Vera Cruz during the period of American occupation has been settled by a decision to keep the funds intact, to be used later on in settling any claims of foreign bondholders for interest alleged to be payable from customs receipts.

Mexican Foreign Minister Ruiz officially notified the Spanish Embassy here, which is in charge of Mexican affairs, of the appointment of the Huerta delegates to meet with the mediating envoys. The dispatch said that the three delegates would be accompanied by Raphael Edguero, as secretary of the mission.

NEVER SUSPECTED KIDNEY TROUBLE

Gained Fifty Pounds in Weight

Some time ago I was suffering from what I supposed was rheumatism. I became so bad that I could hardly get on my feet from a sitting position. I ran down in weight from 195 to 145 pounds. I tried different kinds of medicine, but received little or no help. I saw Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root highly recommended for kidney trouble but I never had an idea that my kidneys were affected. I thought I would try a fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root and see what the effect would be. I commenced taking it according to directions and in a few days I saw that it was helping me. I used the fifty-cent bottle and then bought three more dollar bottles and they completely cured me. I have gone back to my original weight—195 pounds—and I am a thorough advocate of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root as I believe it to be a remarkable preparation for what it is recommended to do.

The W. R. C. and the Department of Indiana Ladies of the G. A. R. will hold a reception to national and department officers in Parlors B. C. and D, at the Denison Hotel. Music for the reception, which is to be held from 4:30 to 6 p. m., will be given by the Manual Training High School orchestra.

The encampment will not be opened formally until tonight in Tomlinson Hall, when an open meeting to extend welcome and greeting to all of the visiting organizations will be held. Charles A. Bookwalter will preside. Commander Jesse E. Martin of the Ben Harrison Camp No. 356, Sons of Veterans, will speak the welcome to the encampment for the Sons, who are hosts, and Mayor Bell and Governor Ralston will speak for the city and state. The state heads of the various organizations will respond.

The parade line of march, which is the shortest in the history of the state encampments, tomorrow afternoon will be from Washington and Pennsylvania street west to Illinois, north to New York, east to Meridian, and south in Meridian street to the Monument, where the veterans will pass the reviewing stand and disband.

Washington Gardner, Albion, Mich. commander in chief of the G. A. R.; John E. Sautter, Pittsburgh, Pa., commander in chief of the Sons of Veterans, and Miss Edna Bergwitz, Columbus, O., national president Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary, will arrive tomorrow to take part in the two campfire programs that have been prepared. Another national officer who will have a part in the program is Mrs. Ida S. Mebride, Indianapolis, who is national president of the Woman's Relief Corps.

One campfire, to be presided over by Department Commander D. W. Comstock, will be held in Tomlinson Hall, and the other, held in the First Baptist Church, will be in charge of Newton J. McGuire, who is a past division commander and chairman of the executive committee in charge of the local encampment arrangements. The national officers named will speak at both campfires.

The result of the clean up and paint up campaign is being seen in all parts of the city. Much trash and rubbish is being collected so that it will be ready for the haulers Saturday. The city will remove free of charge all trash that cannot be burned.

System Awakens With Pure Blood

In Mind and Body the Change is Wonderful.

After the depression, the stagnation, the despair over some blood disorder, it is fine to wake up to what S. S. S. has accomplished for you after a few days' use. It puts the nerves and blood in harmony; it arouses the cellular activity of the liver, kidneys, lungs, and other excretory organs to remove from the blood the body wastes that cause nearly all sickness.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repairs work begins. S. S. S. has such influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to catalytic medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is one of the highest achievements in this line. For many years people relied upon mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic cathartics and "dope" as remedies for blood sickness, but now the pure, vegetable S. S. S. is their safeguard.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. The great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., prepares this famous blood purifier, and you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. All over Seymour you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work. Seymour people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Seymour citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Mrs. Carl Larrison, 323 N. Mill St., Seymour, Ind., says: "I suffered from my back for a long time and often the secretions from my kidneys bothered me. I had dizzy spells and headaches, was languid and could hardly attend to my housework. Every cold I caught settled in my kidneys and made the trouble worse. Every little noise irritated me and I felt nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved all these troubles and in return for their good work, I recommend them at every opportunity."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Larrison had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

RACES WERE CLOSE AMONG CANDIDATES

Rucker, prosecuting attorney; Joseph G. Hayes, commissioner, Second district; Lewis W. George, commissioner, Third district; Theodore Stein, Jr., county clerk; Edward G. Sourbier, treasurer; George V. Coffin, sheriff; Charles E. Cheney, surveyor; August Schmidt, county assessor. The result of the contest for coroner between Dr. Richard A. Poole and Harry McLeand was in doubt.

There were a few contests for Progressive nominations, but not enough returns had been received this forenoon to indicate the result.

The heaviest Democratic vote was cast, for the candidates for county treasurer, this being the principal fight of the primaries. Unofficial returns from the first ninety-five precincts gave a total of 9,893 votes for all of the Democratic candidates for treasurer. There are 158 precincts in the county, and this was an average of 104 votes to the precinct.

If this ratio was maintained in all the remaining precincts it would mean a total Democratic vote of about 16,000. This is a larger vote than had been expected, but it was due to the fact that the fight for the nomination for treasurer was extremely bitter, thus lining up the factions in a fierce battle.

One of the most significant features of the primaries was that the Republican vote was about three times as large as the vote of the Progressive party. At the election in 1912 the Progressives cast 18,396 votes and the Republicans cast 12,280 in Marion county, the Progressives running about six thousand ahead. But the Progressive party has dwindled since then to a mere shadow of a party, and this fact is shown by the extremely light vote which it cast yesterday. The best obtainable estimate today placed the Republican vote at about six thousand and the Progressive vote at probably two thousand.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Tip Glasson, of Reddington, purchased a new five passenger Buick car of the Stewart Garage Tuesday.

A number of cities in the vicinity have reported that small losses were shown this year in the enumeration of children of school ages. A gain of ninety-one was shown in this city.

Pupils of the county schools are making preparations for their annual commencement exercises. The majority of the rural schools have closed and the annual exercises will be held during the next few weeks.

Sam Welsh has been given the contract of raising the Reddinger house on North Chestnut street. The house will be moved back several feet and a new porch will be constructed. Other improvements will be made on the property.

M. F. Bottorff has received a letter from his son, Orville, who has a position with the Redpath bureau in the south. The letter states that he has been appointed gate keeper and that he is working under the direction of a young minister.

A guard from the Indiana Reformatory was here Tuesday night searching for a negro convict who escaped. A description of the man was left with the local police. It is thought the convict started in this direction. A reward of fifty dollars is offered for his arrest.

The rains the last few days have delayed local orchardists is spraying for the codling moth. This spray must be applied within the next few days and the orchardists are hoping for a period of dry weather. In several orchards the spraying solution has been applied but was washed off the blooms by the rain.

Doris Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, who live east of the city, made a very high average in her school work at the Consolidated school this year. Although she is but thirteen years of age, she was graduated with an average of 88.5 for the year. This is one of the highest averages in the township.

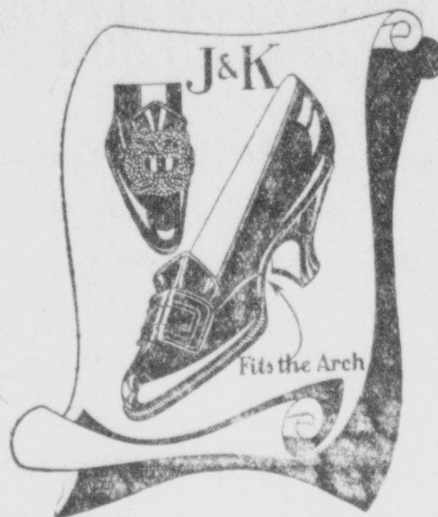

Work of razing the brick building on the postoffice site has been about completed and workmen will begin shortly on the new garage building to be erected on the lot east. The garage will be built by James A. Willey. Other buildings on the government property with the exception of the office of Dr. W. M. Casey have been removed in compliance with the instructions of the postoffice department.

It is said that a calm always follows a storm. This has proven true in police circles as very few arrests of the local officers since the close of the local officers after the close of April when the number of cases filed was the largest for years. It is figured out that all the "unruly ones" were brought into court at once and after paying their fines and court costs do not have enough money to get into trouble again for a week or so.

Freight agents on all railroads in this part of the state are making a concerted effort towards early closing. They desire to have all freight in the office before 4 o'clock in the afternoon so the bills can be made out before 6 o'clock. When freight is accepted until the hour of closing the clerks are required to remain in the office for several hours to complete the work on the bills of lading. They also ask that the freight houses be closed at noon on Saturday except for perishable freight.

County Highway Superintendent Price is taking advantage of the favorable weather for dragging and repairing the roads. The work is in progress in all parts of the county. After the rains the highways will be in splendid condition for dragging and a number have already been placed in first class condition this spring. He expects to make more marked improvements next year after the preliminary work has been completed and the system of road repairing has been inaugurated.

Many complaints are heard from residents who live along the improved streets about speeding automobiles. When the machines travel at a rapid rate of speed they are followed by a cloud of dust which will prove very annoying this summer when the doors and windows are open. The police department, it is expected, will give some attention to this matter shortly and it is said that speeders will not be arrested unless the officers have proof that will convict. There has been some talk of requesting the council to purchase a stop watch for the use of the police when they enter upon the campaign to stop speeding.

SOCIAL EVENTS

TUESDAY CLUB OPEN MEETING.

The open meeting of the Tuesday Club is one of the annual social events to which the members of the club and their guests look forward with pleasant anticipations. The meeting this year proved to be one of the most enjoyable which the club has held. The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. John Groub on North Walnut street was tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Groub and comfortably seated for the program. Music was furnished by Messrs. Estel Hancock, Wm. G. Masters and Don Bollinger, both for the opening number of the program and during the social hour.

Mrs. J. H. Carter, president of the Tuesday Club, presided and introduced in a few well chosen words, the speaker of the evening, Prof. W. A. Jenkins, librarian at Indiana University. He spoke on the subject, "The Drama," reviewing the development from the earliest days of English literature to the present time and indicating that a change is now being made in the character of plays put on the stage. This change is strongly toward a more wholesome and elevating tone than characterized the drama a few years ago.

At the close of the address refreshments were served in two courses and the guests spent a very enjoyable evening with their hosts. The refreshment committee was assisted in serving by Misses Margaret Remy, Ada Cordes, Frances Switzer and Hattie Roeger.

NEEDLECRAFT CLUB.

Mrs. Will H. Noelker delightfully entertained the members of the Needlecraft Club and a few invited guests yesterday afternoon at her home on North Poplar street. An elegant luncheon was served and the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. John Williams was given a delightful surprise Monday evening at her home on West Third street by a number of her neighbors and friends in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent socially and was thoroughly enjoyed.
